To Whom it May Concern:

Please don't take away the communication that I have with my husband (Jason Farmer #378795) Brushy Mountain - Morgan Site. We are financially challenged until Jason comes home. We need to be able to hear one another's voice on the phone. It means a lot to the both of us to get us through his incarceration until he does come home. The families of our incarcerated inmates are doing time along with their loved ones on the inside. We need to keep the line of communication open, so we can continue to encourage them on the phone. It gives them hope and a reason to keep fighting until they reach their release date. We do not have loved ones in the prison system. There are others that have loved ones in county facilities and in juvenile centers. We are the main support group for our incarcerated loved ones. The leader of the support group for our incarcerated loved ones is GOD. We need to stay in touch with one another, and we also need to stay together with our loved ones. Please take serious consideration on your decision in regard to the price of phone calls. Please don't take our loved ones away from us on the phone. May GOD lead you to the right decision on this matter.

Sincerely,
Karen Farmer
